Commerce Commission

Commerce Act 1986

Notification of Transpower Capital Expenditure Input Methodology Determination

Pursuant to section 52W of Part 4 of the Commerce Act 1986 (“the Act”), the Commerce Commission (“the Commission”) gives the following notice.

On 31 January 2012, the Commission made the Transpower Capital Expenditure Input Methodologies Determination (“the Determination”) as required by section 54S of the Act.

The Determination sets out a capital expenditure input methodology that specifies the process for Transpower to submit, and the Commission to approve, Transpower’s capital expenditure proposals.

The Determination comes into force on the day following the date of publication of this notice.

Nature of the Input Methodology and the Goods or Services to Which it Applies

The Determination applies to the supply by Transpower of “electricity lines services”, as defined in section 54C of the Act, under Transpower’s individual price-quality path determined in accordance with Part 4, subpart 7 of the Act.

In summary:

- (a) Capital expenditure must be classified as either base capital expenditure (“Base capex”) or major capital expenditure (“Major capex”).
- (b) The Determination will apply to all capital expenditure intended to enter Transpower’s Regulatory Asset Base (RAB), including both Base and Major capex.
- (c) Transpower must consult with interested parties on Major capex projects, which must be assessed and approved by the Commission on a project-by-project basis using the requirements set out in the Transpower capital expenditure input methodology (“Capex IM”).
- (d) Transpower cannot substitute any Major capex between individual Major capex projects or to Base capex.
- (e) Base capex must be approved in advance of each regulatory period.
- (f) Transpower may substitute Base capex between years and across categories.
- (h) An incentive regime will apply to both Base capex and Major capex.
- (i) Transpower must publish an integrated transmission plan that explains Transpower’s view about the long-term development of the grid.

- (j) Transpower must consider transmission alternatives in its development of all Major capex proposals.
- (b) The Capex IM will not usually apply to capital expenditure relating to either new investment contracts or the System Operator Service Provider Agreement.

Reasons for Determining the Input Methodologies

The reasons for determining the capital expenditure input methodology are set out in detail in the Transpower Capital Expenditure Input Methodology Reasons Paper, 27 January 2012.

The key reasons for the input methodology are:

- (a) The difference in nature, timing and magnitude of base and major capital expenditure is such that a different approval process is appropriate.
- (b) Given the importance of the RAB in determining Transpower's revenues, all capital expenditure entering the regulatory asset base should be subject to the requirements of the Capex IM.
- (c) Transpower must consider the trade-off between transmission alternatives and capital expenditure because making use of transmission alternatives may be an economically efficient decision where it avoids or defers expenditure on transmission investment.
- (d) Allowing substitution of expenditure within one Major capex project to another would distort the effectiveness of the approval process and the incentives that are applied on a project specific basis.
- (e) Incentive mechanisms will encourage downward pressure on costs, as well as consideration of non-transmission solutions.
- (f) Requiring Transpower to provide an integrated transmission plan will help stakeholders assess Base capex and Major capex proposals. The purpose of the integrated transmission plan is to explain Transpower's view of the long-term operation and development of the grid.
- (g) The Commission will not interpose itself between Transpower and its contract counterparties by requiring the revenue associated with New Investment Contracts to be subject to an individual price-quality path, provided certain conditions are met around workable competition.

Methodology Publicly Available

Copies of the Determination and the Reasons Paper are available for inspection free of charge at the Commission (during ordinary office hours), on the Commission's website www.comcom.govt.nz/transpower-input-methodologies/

or for purchase at a reasonable price at the Commerce Commission, 44 The Terrace, Wellington.

Dated at Wellington this 9th day of February 2012.

COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Explanatory Note

The Electricity Industry Act 2010 introduced section 54S to the Commerce Act 1986 ("the Act"), which requires the Commission to determine an input methodology for capital expenditure proposals made by Transpower New Zealand Limited ("Transpower"). The purpose of input methodologies is to promote certainty for suppliers and consumers in relation to the rules, requirements and processes applying to the regulation of goods or services under Part 4 of the Act.

The purpose of Part 4, as set out in section 52A of the Act, is to promote the long-term benefit of consumers in markets where there is little or no competition and little or no likelihood of a substantial increase in competition, by promoting outcomes that are consistent with outcomes produced in competitive markets such that suppliers of regulated goods or services:

- (a) have incentives to innovate and invest, including in replacement, upgraded, and new assets; and
- (b) have incentives to improve efficiency and provide services at a quality that reflects consumer demands; and
- (c) share with consumers the benefits of efficiency gains in the supply of the regulated goods or services, including through lower prices; and
- (d) are limited in their ability to extract excessive profits.

The electricity lines services provided by Transpower are regulated under an individual price-quality path, which applies from 1 April 2011. The Commission's determination in December 2010 that set the price-quality path was required to include reference to the input methodologies that Transpower is required to apply. This included provision for an input methodology for capital expenditure approvals that would be determined and applied to Major capital expenditure projects during the first regulatory period.

The Act requires the Commission to set an input methodology for Transpower's capital expenditure proposals that includes:

- (a) requirements of Transpower with respect to information and consultation;
- (b) the criteria the Commission will use in evaluating the proposals; and
- (c) the timeframes and processes for the Commission to evaluate the proposals, and any consequences for not meeting those timeframes.

The new capital expenditure input methodology replaces the existing approval process for capital expenditure, which currently follows the Electricity Governance Rules 2003.

The Capex IM Determination provides an integrated approach to the development and approval of Transpower's investment in the national grid. It is a methodology for reviewing and approving Transpower's capital expenditure proposals. New incentive mechanisms will provide Transpower with an incentive to invest and to deliver improved performance in terms of outputs and cost efficiency.

The approval procedures and incentive mechanisms applying to Major capital expenditure proposals by Transpower apply from the date of commencement of the Capex IM Determination. Under the Act, Transpower's individual price-quality path may not be changed except in accordance with the Act and the Commerce Act (Transpower Input Methodologies) Determination 2010. The procedures and incentives applying to minor capital expenditure projects may therefore only apply with effect from the next regulatory period commencing on 1 April 2015.

Notification of Amendment of the Commerce Act (Transpower Individual Price-Quality Path) Determination 2010

Pursuant to section 52Q(5)(b) of Part 4 of the Commerce Act 1986 ("the Act"), the Commerce Commission ("the Commission") gives the following notice.

On 31 January 2012, the Commission made an amendment ("the Amendment") under section 52Q of Act to the Commerce Act (Transpower Individual Price-Quality Path) Determination 2010, Decision 714 ("the Determination").

The Amendment includes minor drafting changes to the Determination to assist with interpretation and application of the individual price-quality path in accordance with the new approval process for Transpower capital expenditure set out in the Transpower Capital Expenditure Input Methodology Determination ("Capex IM determination").

The Amendment makes the following changes to the Determination:

- (a) Updates Transpower's quality reporting requirements for planned and unplanned interruptions, aligning the reporting with the Electricity Information Disclosure Regulations;
- (b) removes references to the old approval process for major capital expenditure, as those provisions are now redundant in light of the new Capex IM Determination approval process;
- (c) clarifies the actual v forecast MAR wash-up to make it easier to follow in light of the new Capex IM Determination approval processes;
- (d) adjusts major and minor capex expenditure where a minor capital expenditure becomes approved as a major capital expenditure so that there is no unintended double-recovery or non-recovery; and
- (e) gives effect to the "at risk" conditions that affect the major capital expenditure approved in accordance with the Commission's Capex IM Determination, which provides for a reduced recovery where conditions attached to the approval are not met.

These changes do not alter the price-quality path, as the new approval process is in accordance with the Act and the applicable input methodologies.

The Amendment is effective on the day following the date of publication of this notice.

Copies of the Amendment and the Determination are available for inspection free of charge at the Commission (during ordinary office hours), on the Commission's website

COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Explanatory Note

The Electricity Industry Act 2010 introduced section 54S to the Commerce Act 1986 ("the Act"), which requires the Commission to determine an input methodology for capital expenditure proposals made by Transpower. The new capital expenditure input methodology replaces the existing approval process for capital expenditure, which currently follows the Electricity Governance Rules 2003. The determination giving effect to the capital expenditure input methodology is contained in the Transpower Capital Expenditure Input Methodology Determination ("Capex IM Determination"), which was issued by the Commission on 31 January 2012.

The approval procedures applying to major capital expenditure proposals by Transpower apply from the date of commencement of the Capex IM Determination. Under the Act, the individual price-quality path may not be changed except in accordance with the Act and the Commerce Act (Transpower Input Methodologies) Determination 2010 ("IM Determination"). The procedures applying to Base capital expenditure projects may therefore only apply with effect from the next regulatory period commencing on 1 April 2015.

South Auckland Land District—Tauranga City
Schedule

Area	Description
—	Part Lot 2 DPS 32737; marked “A” on DP 442474 and “B” on DP 447871 (part Computer Freehold Register SA33D/438).

Rights and Powers Varied and Added

Continuation of “Estate or Interest or Easement to be Created”:

1. This easement is in addition to and not in substitution for any statutory rights and authorities which the Grantee may have at any time in respect of the servient tenement. The rights and powers in this instrument are in addition to those rights and powers contained in Schedule 4 to the Land Transfer Regulations 2002 (“the Fourth Schedule”), and where the terms of this instrument are in conflict with the Fourth Schedule the terms of this instrument shall prevail.
 2. In addition to the above rights and powers, the Grantor grants to the Grantee as an easement in gross the following rights and powers at all times and in any quantity:
 - 2.1 to lay, construct, maintain, replace and retain lines and works on, in, over and under the soil of the easement land (provided that no lines or works, other than minor fittings, may be constructed over ground);
 - 2.2 to enter and remain upon the servient tenement for the purposes of laying, constructing, maintaining, inspecting, repairing, renewing, enlarging, replacing, altering or removing the pipes, lines or works as the case may be and opening up the soil of the servient tenement and make any accessway, cuttings, fillings, grades, batters or trenches and to reopen the same and generally to do and perform such acts or things upon the servient tenement as may be necessary to enable the Grantee to receive the full free use and enjoyment of the rights and privileges granted under this easement;
 - 2.3 to use lines and works for the purpose of conveying electricity, data and/or communications without interruption or impediment;
- provided however that nothing shall compel the Grantee to exercise the above rights at any time.

3. Covenants

The Grantor and the Grantee covenant as follows:

- 3.1 The Grantee shall be responsible for:
 - (a) the installation of the lines and works; and
 - (b) using its best endeavours to prevent the lines and works becoming a danger or a nuisance.
- 3.2 The Grantee will from time to time repair and make good all damage to fences, gates or other improvements upon the servient tenement directly caused by the Grantee carrying out any work pursuant to clause 2, and the rights and powers in the Fourth Schedule.

- 3.3 The Grantee agrees to indemnify the Grantor in respect of all liabilities and direct damage or losses which the Grantor may incur in respect of any negligent act or omission by the Grantee or its employees, contractors, agents or invitees except to the extent that such liability damage or loss may arise from any cause beyond the reasonable control of the Grantee or be caused by or contributed to by the wilful or negligent act or omission of the Grantor or the Grantor's employees, contractors, agents or invitees.
- 3.4 The Grantor will not, without the written permission of the Grantee:
- (a) grow or permit to be grown any natural or cultivated vegetation including trees and shrubs on the easement land or in the near vicinity of the easement land; or
 - (b) erect or permit to be erected any improvement (including but not limited to buildings, sheds, fences, roads, walls or driveways) on the easement land; or
 - (c) disturb or permit to be disturbed the soil below a depth of 300 millimetres from the surface of the easement land; or
 - (d) do anything on the servient tenement that may damage or endanger the line(s) or works including anything that would in any way reduce the clearance of the lines or works to less than the minimum clearance required from time to time by any applicable statutory Regulation, code of practice or other authority; or
 - (e) do any act which will interfere with the rights granted by this easement and will not at any time do permit or suffer any act whereby the full and free use and enjoyment by the Grantee of the rights and privileges granted by this easement are interfered with. The Grantee shall give the Grantor written notice of any failure to comply with the requirements of this clause and the Grantor shall have a reasonable time to comply (except in emergency). If the Grantor fails to comply, the Grantee may, at the Grantor's, cost remove any natural or cultivated vegetation or improvement on the servient tenement which will interfere with the rights granted by this easement.

Provided however that the Grantee acknowledges it has consented to all natural or cultivated vegetation and all improvements growing or erected on the easement land and the Owner's adjoining land at the date of this Easement Instrument.

- 3.5 Notwithstanding the provisions of the Fourth Schedule that deal with maintenance and payment of maintenance costs, if any maintenance, repair or replacement of the lines or the works or part of the lines or the works, is necessary because of any act or omission, neglect or fault of the Grantor (including any tenant, licensee, employee, invitee or agent of the Grantor) then the Grantor shall be responsible for the whole cost of any such maintenance, repair or replacement in proportion to the amount attributable to that act or omission.

- 3.6 The Grantor covenants with the Grantee that the Grantor waives and will not at any time claim any compensation from the Grantee under sections 57 and/or 58 of the Electricity Act 1992 or under any other provisions of any Statute or Regulation whatsoever, in relation to the exercise by the Grantee of its rights under this easement.
- 3.7 The lines and works are and shall remain the sole property of the Grantee and if this easement is surrendered, the Grantee shall, at the Grantee's cost remove and decommission the lines and works and restore those parts of the servient tenement affected by the works as close as possible to their state prior to the works and make good any other damage caused wholly by such removal and/or decommissioning. No person shall have any interest in such line(s) and works by reason only of having an interest or estate in the servient tenement.
- 3.8 No power is implied for the Grantor to determine this easement for any breach of covenant or for any other cause whatsoever. The parties intend this easement to subsist forever or until it is duly surrendered.
- 3.9 All disputes which may arise between the parties in respect of this easement are to be determined in accordance with the provisions set out in the Fourth Schedule subject to the modifications detailed in clauses 3.9 and 3.10.
- 3.10 If the matter should proceed to arbitration, the arbitral Tribunal shall determine the issue of payment of costs as calculated on a solicitor to client basis.
- 3.11 Either the Grantor or the Grantee may appeal to the High Court on any question of law arising out of any award made by the arbitral Tribunal.
