2014-au6667

Notification of Amendment to Input Methodologies for Electricity Line Services and Gas Pipeline Services

The Commerce Commission ("Commission") has amended the input methodologies applicable to electricity lines services and gas pipeline services under Part 4 of the Commerce Act 1986.

The amended input methodologies are:

- Electricity Distribution Services Input Methodologies Determination 2012 [2012] NZCC 26*

- Transpower Input Methodologies Determination [2012] NZCC 17†
- Gas Distribution Services Input Methodologies Determination 2012 [2012] NZCC 27*
- Gas Transmission Services Input Methodologies Determination 2012 [2012] NZCC 28*.

The amendment is set out in the Electricity Lines Services and Gas Pipeline Services Input Methodologies Determination Amendment (WACC percentile for price-quality regulation) 2014 [2014] NZCC 27, and will apply to price-quality path regulation for electricity lines services and gas pipeline services.

The Commission has changed the percentile that applies in determining estimates of the weighted average cost of capital that will apply for price-quality regulation for electricity lines services and gas pipeline services.

The weighted average cost of capital percentile that applies to price-quality regulation of electricity lines services and gas pipelines services has been changed from the 75th percentile to the 67th percentile.

This change follows the Commission's review of the appropriate weighted average cost of capital percentile for electricity lines services and gas pipeline services.

The review was initiated following the High Court's comments on the lack of sufficient evidential basis for the current weighted average cost of capital percentile (see Wellington International Airport Ltd & Ors v Commerce Commission [2013] NZHC [December 2013]).

Significant new analytical and empirical evidence (including market-based evidence) is now available that was not available to the Commission at the time the previous weighted average cost of capital percentile was set in December 2010, or to the Court at the time of the proceedings referred to above.

Having considered the available evidence and the submissions received on the draft input methodologies, the Commission has determined that the 67th percentile should be used for the price-quality regulation of electricity lines services and gas pipeline services. In the Commission's view, it is appropriate to use a weighted average cost of capital significantly above the mid-point estimate. This is because the potential costs of under-investment arising from a weighted average cost of capital that is too low are likely to outweigh the harm to consumers (including any over-investment) arising from a weighted average cost of capital that is too high.

The Commission considers that the evidence collected supports a weighted average cost of capital for price-quality path regulation between the 60th percentile and the 75th percentile that previously applied under the input methodologies.

The Commission's determination is that the 67th percentile estimate of the weighted average cost of capital is appropriate for price-quality regulation. In the Commission's view, a percentile around the middle of the reasonable range the Commission has defined (from the 60th to the 75th percentile) appropriately balances the relative costs to consumers of under- and over-investment, in light of the overall purpose of Part 4, which is to promote the long-term benefit of consumers of regulated services.

- b. the criteria set out in the notice entitled “Description of Funds within Vote Research, Science and Technology” published in the Supplement to the New Zealand Gazette, 31 January 2011, No. 9, page 200; and
- c. the criteria specified in this notice and the relevant schedules to this notice.

5. General eligibility criteria for science-led contestable funding proposals—(1) For a proposal to be assessed against the criteria in clause 6, the proposal must:

- a. be made by a research organisation or a New Zealand-based legal entity representing a research organisation;
- b. not be solely for the benefit of the research organisation or New Zealand-based legal entity which represents this organisation;
- c. not be made by a department of the public service as listed in Schedule 1 of the State Sector Act 1988;

- e. how the proposal contributes to the overall mix of investments in respect of each research fund, including the extent to which the overall mix of investments:
 - i. is likely to best achieve the objectives referred to in clause 6(b)–(d); and
 - ii. will ensure that funding is not concurrently provided in respect of any two or more programmes of research, science, or technology, or related activities that are the same or substantially similar (whether those programmes are part of a new proposal or are already being funded); and
 - iii. will minimise the risk that an applicant will not be able to undertake the relevant programme of research, science, or technology, or related activities because the applicant, or any person involved in delivering the programme, would concurrently be committed to one or more other programmes (whether those programmes are part of a new proposal or are already being funded).

7. Revocation of previous notices—I hereby revoke the notice entitled “Criteria for Proposals for Science-led Contestable Funding” and Funding for Smart Ideas in the 2014 Science Investment Round” published in the Supplement to the New Zealand Gazette, 8 November 2013, No. 148, page 4063.

Dated at Wellington this 28th day of October 2014.

Hon STEVEN JOYCE, Minister of Science and Innovation.

Schedule 1

Smart Ideas Investment Mechanism

1. Specific policy objectives—(1) Smart Ideas is designed to drive innovation and an entrepreneurial culture in the research community. Smart Ideas supports novel ideas and emerging capability in research, science, or technology, or related activities, which refresh the national science portfolio.

(2) Smart Ideas is intended to:

- a. support basic discovery of, or applied research into, novel, promising ideas;
- b. provide early guidance to researchers on positioning research, science, or technology, or related activities for successful application or commercialisation; and
- c. attract proposals from, and support, early career researchers in addition to more experienced researchers.

(3) Subject to clause 2.2, Smart Ideas funding is available in two phases: a research phase (“Phase 1”) and an application phase (“Phase 2”). The objectives of each phase are as follows:

- a. The objective of Phase 1 is investigative, in that it aims to use an innovative approach to develop new knowledge that will solve a problem, fulfil a need, or prove a hypothesis. While proposals should identify the potential application and benefits of the idea, the implementation pathway and user relationships should be indicative rather than detailed.
- b. The objective of Phase 2 is to encourage applicants to undertake research, science, or technology, or related activities that will help apply the idea to achieve its market potential.

2. Specific eligibility criteria—(1) To be eligible for funding under the Smart Ideas investment mechanism in either Phase 1 or Phase 2, the applicant must have committed to:

- a. receiving advice or mentoring from an entrepreneur or similar commercialisation specialist to aid commercial positioning, or from an end user or service provider who could potentially apply the results of the research, science, or technology, or related activities; and
- b. ensuring that some market or user needs analysis will be undertaken or sourced during the programme to aid its positioning.

(2) A proposal is eligible for Smart Ideas funding in Phase 2 only if the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities directly build on the research programme that received Smart Ideas funding in Phase 1.

3. Specific assessment criteria—(1) A proposal for Smart Ideas funding that has been assessed as meeting the eligibility criteria for science-led contestable funding must be assessed against the following specific assessment criteria, and each assessment criterion must be weighted as set out below:

Specific Assessment Criteria for Smart Ideas Phase 1 Funding

Benefits to New Zealand	Risk Management or Success Factors
Outcome benefits to New Zealand Key Question: To what extent could the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities create benefits for New Zealand? Weighting 10%	Implementation pathway Key Question: To what extent does the proposal outline a plan to develop the idea to take it to market*? Weighting 10%
Benefits to New Zealand of research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Questions: How novel* is the idea*? What is the quality of the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities? Weighting 55%	Ability to deliver results (outputs) from research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Question: What is the likelihood that the proposed outputs of the research, science, or technology, or related activities will be achieved? Weighting 25%

*See clauses 4.1, 4.2 and 4.3 of this schedule for information about what constitutes novelty, market and idea for the purpose of this Schedule.

Securing co-funding, commercial partners or other commercial arrangements is not a requirement for this phase.

Specific Assessment Criteria for Smart Ideas Phase 2 Funding

Benefits to New Zealand	Risk Management or Success Factors
Outcome benefits to New Zealand Key Question: To what extent could the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities create benefits for New Zealand?	Implementation pathway Key Question: To what extent does the proposal outline a plan to take the idea to market*?
Weighting 25%	Weighting 25%
Benefits to New Zealand of research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Questions: How novel* is the idea*? What is the quality of the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities?	Ability to deliver results (outputs) from research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Question: What is the likelihood that the proposed outputs of the research, science, or technology, or related activities will be achieved?
Weighting 30%	Weighting 20%

*See clauses 4.1, 4.2 and 4.3 of this schedule for information about what constitutes novelty, a market and an idea for the purpose of this Schedule.

4. Other assessment criteria—(1) For the purposes of this notice, an “idea” is a scientific or technological hypothesis, or an approach, or a process, or a product or service in which the idea is embodied. An idea being proposed must be based on sound scientific or technological principles, and this must be substantiated in the proposal put forward.

(2) When considering the novelty of ideas under this schedule, the Science Board must consider:

- the novelty of the relevant idea itself rather than the novelty of the application of the idea (for example, an obvious extension of previous research, science, or technology, or related activities is not a novel idea for the purposes of this schedule);
- novelty globally rather than merely in relation to New Zealand;
- the extent to which the idea is a significant departure from previous ways of thinking and/or previous ideas, or an extension of existing or previous research which would not be obvious to a researcher who is active in the area, or a new and different combination of existing ideas; and
- to what extent and/or level of confidence the novelty of the idea is substantiated by its absence in existing scientific and patent literature, or elsewhere.

(3) When considering the Implementation pathway assessment criterion for both Phase 1 and Phase 2 Smart Ideas, the Science Board should apply the term “market” in the appropriate context for each research fund. For example, for research benefitting the public sector, there may only be a single or few, rather than many users making up the “market”.

(4) For each proposal the Science Board may allocate no more than $500,000.00 (excluding GST) per year for up to two years.

Schedule 2

Enabling Technologies Investment Mechanism

1. Specific policy objectives—(1) Enabling Technologies is designed to:

- support the development and application of generic technologies that have the potential to be applied in a number of different ways by a number of disparate users across New Zealand’s scientific, business or other communities;
- accelerate the development of technology platforms that will lead to the development of the technologies described in clause 1.(1)a. of this schedule;
- support the technology platforms’ short-term, medium-term or long-term development needs and help them

- build a core of expertise, knowledge and relevant infrastructure;
- d. fund research, science, or technology, or related activities that are:
 - i. purpose-driven and aligned with national priorities that generate economic, environmental or social benefits for New Zealand; and
 - ii. likely to involve knowledge-transfer and co-ordination between participants linked to the proposed activities;
- e. build on New Zealand's existing capability to undertake research, science, or technology, or related activities so there are not long start-up periods before impacts begin to accrue;
- f. support proposals that are closely aligned or partnered with users, including industry, so that pathways to development of tangible outcomes of benefit to New Zealand are incorporated from the outset;
- g. involve an integrated and multidisciplinary mix of "fit-for-purpose" research, science, or technology, and related activities that includes the expertise, capabilities and infrastructure required to deliver results (ie encompassing all stages of research from basic-targeted to applied); and
- h. support proposals that include, if appropriate, strong international links so there is both rapid absorption of relevant and applicable overseas knowledge and expansion of New Zealand's market potential, while ensuring appropriate safeguards for New Zealand's intellectual property.

(2) For the purposes of this schedule, a "technology platform" is a critical mass of capabilities and equipment that is responsive to industry needs and that provides the means to enhance the performance and capabilities of the users.

2. Specific assessment criteria—A proposal for Enabling Technologies funding that has been assessed as meeting the eligibility criteria for science-led contestable funding must be assessed against the following specific assessment criteria, which are all weighted equally:

Benefits to New Zealand	Risk Management or Success Factors
Outcome benefits to New Zealand Key Questions: To what extent would the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities create benefits for New Zealand? To what extent are there multiple opportunities arising from the technology platform?	Implementation pathway Key Question: To what extent does the proposal provide for engagement across multiple users and potential or proposed implementation through multiple channels, having regard for the stage of the development of the enabling technology?
Benefits to New Zealand of research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Questions: What is the quality of the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities? To what extent could the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities develop a platform of underpinning, enabling technologies that have multiple applications and many connections across science and business? To what extent would the proposed research, science, or technology, or related activities generate new knowledge?	Ability to deliver results (outputs) from research, science, or technology, or related activities Key Question: What is the likelihood that the proposed outputs of the research, science, or technology, or related activities will be achieved?

3. Other assessment criteria—The Science Board may allocate funding under the Enabling Technologies investment mechanism only:

- a. in medium to large scale funding amounts of between $1.5 million (excluding GST) and $3 million (excluding GST) per year for up to six years; or
- b. in lower value sector development funding amounts of under $250,000.00 (excluding GST) to assist the applicant in developing its engagement with a sector in order to realise the commercial potential of its research, science, or technology, or related activities.

Schedule 3

Targeted Research Investment Mechanism

1. Specific policy objectives—(1) Targeted Research is designed to support purpose-driven research, science, or technology, and related activities aligned with national priorities that generate economic, environmental or social benefits for New Zealand.
